HELD OVER

J. G. Lemon Accused of Misuse of Mails.

J. G. Lemon, of Crittenden county, was arrested Friday by Deputy United States Marshal Kimball and brought before United States Commissioner Clark, on the charge of sending an obscene letter through the mails to Pres. Hunt. The evidence against Lemon was nearly altogether circumstantial, but Commissioner Clark held it was sufficient to hold him to the Federal grand jury under $500 bond. Until this is given he will be kept in jail in Paducah, and Marshal Kimball took him there Saturday. No evidence was presented by the defense.

HOME COMPANY

Retires From Business in Clarksville Giving Cumberland Clear Field.

The Home Telephone Co., of Clarksville, went out of business yesterday. Dancy Fort, president, says the company will quit for lack of funds. Just what the discontinuance of this system will mean seems to be confused. It formerly was the intention of the Christian-Todd Telephone company to combine the Cumberland and Home phone patrons, serving both through one big central station, but litigation has arisen that has caused the abandonment of the original plan, and whether the Home patrons in the city will be served through the Cumberland system for the time being seems in doubt.

LACK THOUGHT OF OTHERS

Users of the Telephone Are in Many Cases Too Apt to Think Only of Themselves.

Well-bred men, who never would be guilty of a social rudeness, frequently have the worst telephone manners. Of such bad manners one of the most common and least pardonable examples is that of the business man who directs his stenographer to call a number and then neglects to answer the connection promptly.

"Wait a minute, Mr. Busyman," says the stenographer, "Mr. Timethief wants to talk to you." So Mr. Busyman hangs on the silent phone one, two or perhaps three minutes, while Mr. Timethief, jealous of his own precious moments, but inconsiderate of Mr. Busyman's, leisurely finishes up whatever he might be doing.

The most elemental politeness is consideration for others. Lack of that form of politeness is an indication of selfishness. If a business man gets his stenographer to call another business man to the telephone and then keeps him waiting, it is to save his own time at the expense of somebody else. This is the kind of bad manners that, if persisted in, leads to bad business for the man that practices the discourtesy.

CHRISTIAN REVIVAL

The Great Meeting Closed Sunday Night After Three Weeks—145 Confessions.

The great revival meetings at the Christian church closed Sunday night. The religious spirit ran high in the big audience that gathered for the closing service, and when the invitation was given eight people responded, making thirteen for the day and one hundred and forty-five for the whole meeting of three weeks. At the close of the service the pastor thanked the people for their ready and willing co-operation during the meeting, especially the choir. He said it was through the united support of all the people that the success of the meeting had been made possible. He called attention to the Methodist meeting to begin in two weeks and expressed the hope that the people would give to that meeting the same cordial and loyal support they had given this. With the singing of "Blest be the tie that binds" the benediction was pronounced and the successful revival became a matter of history.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

PROPER FEED FOR THE COLT

Fresh Pasture Grass is Excellent—Supplement With Oil Meal, Bran, Corn, Oats and Alfalfa.

Some farmers believe that a colt will make up as a horse the growth that it does not make as a colt. As a matter of fact a colt or any other young animal that is not kept growing is very likely never to become as large and strong as it would have been had it thrived while young. The colt should receive the proper kind of feed and be fed liberally. The feed should be nutritious and palatable. Among the best colt feeds is fresh pasture grass. This should be supplemented with oil meal, corn, oats, bran and alfalfa or clover hay.

Where it is possible to do so the colts should be kept in the stable away from flies during the day, given all the alfalfa or clover hay they will eat and one pound of the following grain mixture to each 100 pounds of colts: Six pounds of oats or corn, three pounds of bran and one pound of oil meal.—Ohio Bulletin.

Move For Abattoir.

Jackson, Tenn., Nov. 1.—The Jackson Butchers' association, twenty-one strong, have appeared before the city commission, pressing the matter of the necessity of building an abattoir, a central slaughter house, providing cold storage plant for meat, ordering municipal meat inspection, etc. The butchers are anxious to have the inspection, as there has been some claim of late that inferior meat has been placed on the market. The butchers are willing to agree to any provision of inspection that the commission might designate.

English Superstition.

It is a favorite superstition in England that the bacon of swine killed during the waning of the moon will waste away in the process of curing or cooking much more than bacon of hogs killed while the moon is growing. This superstition is akin to that which impresses upon farmers the necessity of planting root crops "in the dark of the moon."

Shacks For Consumptives at Western Kentucky Asylum For the Insane

At the state asylum for the insane at Hopkinsville it was found some years ago that many of the patients were afflicted with consumption. The authorities consequently built two groups of buildings to accommodate the consumptive cases.

A central building, to provide a dining room, bathrooms, etc., was surrounded by groups of shacks, each having beds for three patients. The lower fourth of each side of the shacks was boarded up, and the section above was formed of canvas stretched over frames. These canvas screens were made in sections fastened at the top with hinges, so that any side might be opened to admit the fresh air and sunlight.

Dr. H. P. Sights, superintendent of the hospital, states that the death rate at the asylum has been decreased 40 per cent by the use of these buildings for the consumptives, and that many of the consumptives have been returned to the main building restored and some have been sent home restored both physically and mentally.

The two groups of buildings, accommodating fifty-six patients, were built for less than $8,000. Dr. Sights says further: "I think every county in the state should have a tuberculosis colony, and the county officials, who will take the time to look into the benefit offered their citizens, would not hesitate to take steps at once to establish such a colony, and do the greatest service possible for them to do with the amount invested. It will not be an experiment, as this state institution, with its limited funds, demonstrated fully the wisdom and economy of the project."
